Membership engagement survey results

A few months ago, members were asked to take part in a membership survey and share their feedback with us. Below you'll see a summary of the results.

To find out more, you can view/download the full presentation on MAP.

Future thinking of Membership

At May's Annual Conference, Director of Membership Janet Talman gave an update on RBL's work on defining the Purpose of Membership, and what it means for the Membership offer.

In this short online seminar, Janet talks us through the reasons why RBL has undertaken this work; who we've worked with and listened to; "friendship" as a driving force behind the purpose of membership, and the roles individual members can perform in maximising the Legion's effectiveness.

This presentation provides a clear and accessible walk through of how RBL has approached the task and set down a direction of travel we can all get behind as One Legion.

Spreading the message of Remembrance

Remembrance is an opportunity to pause and reflect on giving thanks and honouring the memory of those who gave their lives to defend our democratic freedoms.

When we take a moment to commemorate lives lost and celebrate the lives of those who have and do serve, we unite people across faiths, cultures, and backgrounds.

As a Member, you are a messenger of Remembrance within your community, with your branch acting as a focal point for local activities. Without you, our national Remembrance messaging wouldn't reach as far and as wide as it does today.

However, we want to do more. We need your help to ensure that Remembrance is understood by all, is available to all, and is passed on to future generations.

To help more people understand Remembrance, we've created a new guide to use to help you spread the message of Remembrance to people across your community. To find out more, visit the new Resources for Members webpage.

Teaching Remembrance

We've launched new learning resources for children aged 4-18 to help them discover what Remembrance means in our lives today.

Festival of Remembrance – Saturday 12 November

This year, we will approach the Festival through the core values of 'service' which make our Armed Forces such an inspiration to all. Through words, song, and storytelling, the Festival will reveal the qualities behind service which make it an essential part of life in the Armed Forces – and civil society: Placing others before oneself. Being reliable and trustworthy. Dedication to a higher purpose and commitment to seeing things through. The Festival will reinforce our admiration of the unfailing sense of service displayed by the Armed Forces and commemorate those who gave their service even at the cost of their lives.

You can tune in to the live BBC broadcast at 9.00pm. For more information visit our website. If you have questions, please contact Festival@britishlegion.org.uk

Desert Rats Memorial at the National Memorial Arboretum

The Desert Rats Association has raised funds for a lasting memorial to past, present and future Desert Rats at the National Memorial Arboretum. The memorial consists of a large steel jerboa on a carved stone plinth facing El-Alamein and the 7th Armoured Division signpost originally erected outside Berlin at the end of the war.

The Association would like to invite Second World War veterans from the 7th Armoured Division or 7th Armoured Brigade to the event that will take place on Sunday 23 October 2022. The date is the 80th Anniversary of the second battle of El Alamein and the service will start at 1130hrs with attendees arriving from 1000hrs. The service will be followed by a reception. Attendance is by invitation only.

Recognising veterans' advanced years, a second invitation will be issued for a carer/relative to accompany them. A serving Desert Rat will act as an escort for each veteran at the event. The association would like to use this opportunity to put together a nominal roll of WW2 Desert Rat veterans and is keen to gather details of any remaining who served wearing a jerboa but are unable to attend the dedication.

This is likely to be the last large gathering of WW2 Desert Rats and the memorial will be a lasting testament to those who have worn a jerboa. Veterans can find out more about the association by visiting their website.

Please share this with any Desert Rats veterans in your community. If you have any questions please contact Maj David Howe - David.howe576@mod.gov.uk
