TREVOR FORECAST - 10 June 1934 – 11 February 2021

This month, I have to report the very sad news of the death of Trevor Forecast, of Sedgeford, who had been a branch member since 2017. He had served in the Royal Air Force, and subsequently became a chartered engineer, working for Hawker Siddeley. He became managing director and proprietor of The Crown hotel in Downham Market, and in 1982, with his wife Christine, he bought Congham Hall, and developed it into the highly successful and respected hotel that it is today, being awarded many accolades before selling it in 1999. He was a Fellow of the Institute of Hospitality.

During Trevor's retirement, he was Chair of the West Norfolk Duke of Edinburgh's Award scheme, a founder member of the Pride of Britain Hotel Group, and a Master Innkeeper, which gave him the freedom of the City of London. He also supported Christine, who until recently ran the Astro Brain Tumour Fund. Our thoughts are with Christine at this sad time.
